

Poliquin Performance Discussion Communities Terms & Conditions

The information posted in any public community of the Poliquin Performance website, including blog content, featured content and all other content in this area, is intended for informational use only.

Poliquin Performance does not allow posts or comments, anywhere on the Poliquin Performance Website or Poliquin-Based Community pages used for advertising purposes and any irrelevant information and/or posts will be deleted. Advertising services, including but not limited to a personal website, using the community to conduct any type of sale or post any links to websites that may be used for your own financial gain is strictly prohibited.

Poliquin Performance does not condone uncivil or derogatory comments posted in any Poliquin-Based community or forum. We reserve the right to remove such comments that are deemed as poor representation of the Poliquin name, brand or affiliates.

Medical questions should be directed to a qualified healthcare practitioner and cannot be discussed in the forum. Questions and discussions should be limited to subject matter that pertains to Poliquin courses and products. Information which discloses detailed personal or client information is strictly prohibited.

Failure to comply with these rules will result in IMMEDIATE removal of comments or information. Repeat offenders risk action from the Poliquin Legal Department.

January 2011